A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Roseanne Lindsay, President

“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.”

– Thomas Jefferson,
The Declaration of Independence, 1776

Dear Friends of Health Freedom,

As president of the Board of the National Health Freedom Coalition (NHFC), I am honored to be able to thank you, again, for your generous support in our 20th anniversary year, as we navigate transformative times that appear to threaten health freedom for all.

In 2021, Americans saw “mandatory” masking, medical testing, and vaccination phased in, incrementally, under the assumption that the public will roll over without a struggle. Through silent acquiescence, a majority of people consented to authorities, which dictated compliance using a medical model to function on any practical level in society. Every state, county, and local community witnessed how forced medicine became part of a Collectivist pattern of compliance, quietly replacing the democratic republic established in 1776 under The Declaration of Independence. (See quote to left.)

After having experienced legislative setbacks from COVID-related restrictions, NHFC continued to track and report on multiple states in their efforts to pass Safe Harbor practitioner exemption laws. In an unfortunate turn of events, Wisconsin’s governor vetoed AB86, the first ever veto in NHFC’s history. Meanwhile, Massachusetts’s legislation is still in play, along with activity in the states of Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Oregon and Michigan.

Despite travel setbacks, NHFC remained visible on health freedom road. Every month from April to December, NHFC educated health freedom leaders about censorship, mandates that impact their freedoms, as well as how to draft state bills protecting health freedom.

Freedom-conscious people understand that the freedom to choose is non-negotiable. The Creator grants inherent rights, not government. American government is established to protect unalienable rights, not to deny them. A government that goes beyond its scope to protect freedom must be challenged by its people.

Whether or not medical tyranny becomes acceptable in society is determined by our actions today, tomorrow, and in the years to come. In navigating our God/life-given rights to bodily autonomy, we each have a choice in how we respond. Do we accept or deny these changes?

Liberty lies in the hearts of men and women. When it dies there, no constitution, no law and no court, can save it.

– Judge Learned Hand

The definition of Freedom is being rewritten under global treaties that empower the World Health Organization to dictate pandemic health policies with no accountability, while censoring health information. Freedom is not found in any document, law, or treaty. Thus, inherent rights must go beyond the words of The Declaration of Independence, to be embodied and lived every day.

Thank you.

In health freedom,

Rosanne Lindsay, ND, MA

President, National Health Freedom Coalition

NHFC holds a vision for an America where all people make their own health decisions in an environment free of fear.

It has been quite a year! Our rights to make decisions about our own healthcare are under attack like never before. Healthcare workers, teachers, students, firefighters, police officers, our military, state and federal employees, and many others are being faced with medical mandates. Parents are told to not speak up or protest when they don't agree to require their children to wear masks all day. People are being threatened with loss of their jobs or access to their education if they decline a vaccination. Unless they know the law and how to use the legal process, many may lose what they have worked for all their lives. National Health Freedom Coalition stands against these policies.

NHFC teaches and coaches citizens on legislative process

NHFC is teaching regular citizens and groups across the country on how to participate in the legislative process and how to impact health freedom public policy. Oregon Health Freedom Access Coalition is a great example of a startup health freedom group that NHFC has worked with, preparing them to understand how to protect practitioner rights in their state. They are now in a position to work with NHFC's sister lobbying organization to pursue introduction of a safe harbor practitioner exemption bill which would give many healing practitioners the legal right to practice. Such bills have now passed in eleven states.

NHFC attorneys meet with many groups like OHFAC, coaching them on how to participate in the legislative process. We have responded to requests in Maine, Illinois, Florida, Alabama, and many more. Some citizens are concerned with practitioner rights to practice the healing arts. Other groups are concerned about mandates surrounding Covid. Once a group is ready to participate in the legislative process they often go forward by making a decision to mobilize and pass a bill. That is the point where NHFC's sister lobbying organization, NHFA, steps in and works with the group to move legislation. NHFC provides the legislative research on bills in all 50 states and in the federal government on health freedom.

We pledge to continue to raise awareness about the critical importance of health freedom rights...

... and what citizens can do to protect these rights.

NHFC is a Visionary Drafter of Model Health Freedom Legislation

Diane Miller, Director of Law and Public Policy inside the Wisconsin capitol building

We are a country of laws, and thus it matters what our laws say! NHFC attorneys are expert at visioning new legislation that adequately protects our inalienable rights as humans on the planet. For example, NHFC envisioned the Right to Refuse Model Draft Legislation addressing many of the concerns triggered by unconstitutional countermeasures during Covid. This Model Draft document has inspired citizens to draft their own laws to protect their rights.

NHFC/NHFA Celebrates their 20 Year Anniversary!

In August we invited our subscribers to join us virtually to celebrate our 20th NHFC/NHFA Anniversary as a non-profit. Founders Jerri Johnson, Leo Cashman, and Diane Miller gave their heart warming comments about their 20 years on the health freedom trail. Our virtual event was followed by a wonderful back-yard party for many members at the home of co-founder Jerri Johnson.

Right to Decline Emergency Countermeasures

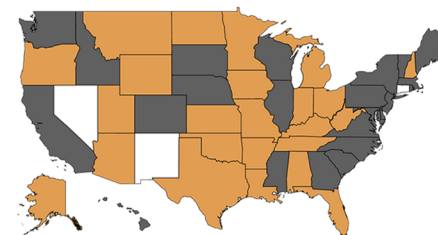

NHFC, along with our sister lobbying organization, NHFA, and a small group of health freedom leaders from CA, VT and MA, envisioned a new project that would support the constitutional right of each person to decline countermeasures such as testing, tracking and vaccination during a health emergency. The new RightToRefuse.org project was born. The website is a project of NHFA and is now live and a place where people can find and track state right-to-refuse legislation in their state on an interactive map and get connected with the local advocates working at the capitol to support and move the bills through the legislative process.

NHFC is on the move offering the Voice of Health Freedom at National Conferences

Even with the limited travel climate, NHFC has given many presentations, about health freedom in 2021. From radio interviews with Robert Scott Bell on the Robert Scott Bell Show, with Patricia Finn on The Good Lawyer Radio Show, and The Solution with Dr. Tony, Tony O'Donnell's

Show, to many virtual and in person events, NHFC educated listeners about their rights, about laws that impact their freedoms, and how they can become active in making changes for health freedom.

- In April, NHFC gave virtual presentations to the 2021 International Herbal Symposium and the National Center

For Homeopathy 2021 Homeopathic Conference describing the legal landscape for herbal and homeopathic practitioners. In May and June, we educated national leaders, meeting virtually with persons from national practitioner organizations such as energy and ayurvedic practitioners, teaching them about the principles of the safe harbor practitioner exemption model laws.

NHFA bids farewell to Atty. Anne Gillum

NHFA bids farewell to our wonderful staff attorney, Anne Gillum JD, who was with us for over 10 years and first came to us in 2012 as a top-notch Hamline University School of Law graduate. Over the years Anne became an expert in health freedom law and worked tirelessly with many citizen groups in numerous states in their work to pass health freedom legislation, especially those bills promoting safe harbor practitioner exemption laws. She made presentations in numerous state legislatures and conferences and produced legal briefs and formal comments when needed to protect freedom. Anne was our top researcher tracking legislation with Westlaw Capital Watch, keeping us abreast of the status of hundreds of legislative bills across the country. We will miss Anne as a valuable staff member and a dear colleague and friend with whom we had the honor of working, to promote NHFA's mission of health freedom.

Atty. Steven O'Connor joins our legal team

We are excited to introduce attorney Steven O'Connor as a new member of our legal team. With extensive court experience in both criminal and civil law, including nine years as a public defender, Mr. O'Connor has also been a legislative volunteer in his home town of San Francisco, where he worked on a variety of public policy concerns; a tutor and mentor for at-risk youth; and a writer for a health industry news site. Steven is passionate about health freedom, and his work with NHFC and NHFA includes researching and writing about both legislation and court cases impacting health freedom. He also tracks proposed new laws for the RighttoRefuse.org website and works with state groups to help move forward favorable bills. Steven's expertise in law and writing allows him to provide informative articles about key court decisions, especially those protecting folks from unwanted COVID-19 vaccine mandates and coercion. With his legal background and passion for health freedom, Mr. O'Connor is a great addition to NHFC and NHFA.

We will not stop working for the freedom for each person to access what one needs in their health journeys and to make one's own health decisions for themselves and their families.

Your ongoing support makes all this possible and we are so very grateful.

Twenty Years of Freedom Work: Looking Back

By Leo Cashman, co-founder of NHFC and NHFA, and NHFC Accountant

Jerri Johnson, Leo Cashman, and Diane Miller, co-founders of NHFC and NHFA

Our work today, after two decades, seems more vitally important than ever, as we stand together to defend our basic human rights.

National Health Freedom Coalition (NHFC) our educational organization, and its sister lobbying organization, National Health Freedom Action (NHFA), were formed in 2000 and 2001 in response to the vision of Minnesota activists who had worked intensely for five years in Minnesota to educate and to pass a health freedom bill. Our work was born out of attacks by state professional boards against prominent natural health practitioners. The resulting health freedom statute enacted in May of 2000, (Minnesota 146A), was innovative and provided a way for unlicensed health care practitioners and healers to practice their vocations without needing to be licensed medical doctors, as long as they avoided harmful prohibited acts and gave out proper disclosures.

In July 2000, attorney Diane Miller who had been a leader in the Minnesota effort called me and declared, “I feel called to work at the national level,” almost like a spiritual awakening. I first groaned at being called to work in a new task, but then I said yes, because I felt that the calling that she had heard was important. I knew that we had worked well together and that I could contribute something to the effort. She had already recruited Jerri Johnson, who had been her side kick for years of lobbying at the Minnesota Capitol, and I would be a third founding board member. So, the three of us, small, quiet people all, went off like the three musketeers, to work at the national level. After twenty years of being involved in many aspects of the health freedom movement and with much growth, a strong base, and some successes, we are pleased and proud of what has been accomplished.

But the threats to health freedom are still prevalent, perhaps now more than ever. With Covid, the mandates, the lockdowns, and the government’s bias toward big pharma solutions while suppressing natural health approaches, there is even a bolder more blatant attack on health freedom. A media-governmental agency juggernaut seeks to control the minds and behavior of the masses of people, and it goes unnoticed how deeply our basic freedoms are being eroded in the process. Those of us who would prefer a natural health approach to health decisions are often attacked – quite wrongly I’d say – as being anti-science, selfish, and even a danger the public well-being. Our work today, after two decades, seems more vitally important than ever, as we stand together to defend our basic human rights. The freedom to direct our own health care decisions and survival is essential to all freedom and democracy. Staying together we have a chance to prevail. Thank you for standing with us today, helping keep our country free.

NHFC Vision

A healthy nation, with empowered people, making informed health care decisions.

NHFC Mission

To promote access to all health care information, services, treatments and products that the people deem beneficial for their own health and survival; to promote an understanding of the laws and factors impacting the right to access; and to promote the health of the people of this nation.
